Once you have completed your first full-time semester of degree study at Sheffield Hallam University, you will move to the FDM centres (and remote working) to learn the foundations of providing IT support. Initially you will gain experience supporting the computers and IT systems of our office staff and then you will have the opportunity to go and work with one of our clients in their offices.

Your Degree Apprenticeship will continue and, after 3 years, lead to a Bachelor of Science degree.

Depending on which IT specialism you choose, you might be doing IT Support at our clients, working in other areas such as software development, protecting the company from cyber security threats, building virtual robots to repeatable jobs, analysing data, or testing systems to make sure they are ready for users.

You will be learning about the role of a technologist and understanding the environments they work in, which will include:

- Establishing, building and growing relationships with FDM staff through effective communication, and providing a friendly professional service to them.
- Learning how to carry out your work in line with FDM policies and practices.
- Helping users with their accounts: setting up new accounts, closing redundant ones, resetting passwords and managing the security and privileges the users have on their accounts.

Degree Apprenticeships

- You apply direct to the employer not through UCAS
- You will have to write a personal statement (like the UCAS one)
- Each company has their own criteria and ways to apply
- Do your research about the business and the role (to talk about this in the interview)
- Most students do a UCAS application AND apply for degree apprenticeships to keep their options open
